

The Loss of a Life - Written by

The loss of a life,
Leaves me feeling dejected,
But the pain digs deeper,
When the death's unexpected.

Oh, how much,
I miss the past.
The future came,
Just way too fast.

So many things,
We didn't get to do,
But so many memories,
A million, maybe two!

A year ago,
They passed away.
It's been one year,
Since that very day.

Whenever I miss them,
I look up to the moon,
And think to myself,
We'll meet again soon.

We'll meet up in heaven
When on earth I am done,
Do the things we missed out on,
Spend time with my loved one.
